Healthcare's Economic Impact on the East Central Coast

The booming healthcare industry is vital to the success of the East Central Coast economy. Currently in the Greater Daytona Beach area, the expansion of healthcare facilities in operation, new healthcare facilities being built and an increase in medical tourism all contribute to the prosperous economy.

Both patients and physicians benefit from a growing and thriving East Central Coast healthcare industry. The expansion and growth of the medical community not only brings better patient care, but also brings jobs directly to the area.

Top Employers

Hospitals and healthcare organizations are major employers for the region. AdventHealth is the No. 1 private sector employer for Volusia and Flagler counties. Halifax Health and Florida Healthcare Plans are the No. 2 and No. 8 private sector employers for Volusia County as well. In Brevard County, Health First is the No. 2 employer, and Rockledge Regional Medical Center is No. 11. Not only does the healthcare field provide a significant number of jobs to the area, it also provides high quality and high paying jobs where employees can have long-lasting careers.

AdventHealth

The hospitals in the AdventHealth Central Florida Division (which include the Daytona Beach, DeLand, Fish Memorial, New Smyrna Beach, Palm Coast and Palm Coast Parkway locations) have a local financial impact of more than $1 billion each year. With many new expansions and projects, it's no wonder AdventHealth is such a major contributor to the East Central Coast economy.

AdventHealth Daytona Beach has recently opened a new $45.7 million state-of-the-art medical office building and ambulatory surgery center in east Volusia County. The facility provides a wide range of specialties including cardiology, general surgery, orthopaedics and more. The three-story, 60,000-square-foot building is home to four operating rooms and two catheterization labs, as well as the Cardiology Physicians Group and North Florida Surgeons specialty group medical offices.

AdventHealth Palm Coast has begun construction on the two-story 30,000 square feet Freytag Health Plaza, which will become a vital hub for specialized cancer treatment, such as radiation oncology and medical oncology, as well as primary care and rehabilitation services. "This new facility represents a $30 million investment in enhancing the care available to our growing community," said Denyse Bales-Chubb, President and CEO for AdventHealth Palm Coast and the Flagler/St. Johns market in a news release. "Over the next four years, the local population is projected to increase by 5 percent, while new cancer diagnoses are anticipated to rise by 12 percent. This highlights the need for expanded cancer treatment, as well as primary care and rehabilitation care." Construction is expected to be complete in early 2025.

AdventHealth has also expanded its investment in Flagler County with the opening of AdventHealth Palm Coast Parkway in August 2023. Spanning 158,000 square feet, the $167 million hospital has 100 beds, effectively doubling the inpatient capacity in Flagler County and nearly doubling the area's emergency department services. The hospital also includes state-of-the-art surgical suites, cardiac catheterization labs for heart-related conditions, endoscopy suites for digestive health issues and more. The new hospital provides Flagler County (the third-fastest growing county in the state) with even more inpatient care services close to home. "Flagler County—and Palm Coast in particular—has experienced significant growth in recent years, and to help keep our community healthy, it is important that our healthcare infrastructure continues to expand and grow too," said Wally De Aquino, president/CEO for AdventHealth Palm Coast Parkway in a news release. The new hospital has also created up to 500 new healthcare jobs in Flagler County.

Halifax Health

Halifax Health has provided numerous benefits to the East Central Coast community, resulting in a total contribution equal to $60.1 million according to the most recent data. The health system continues to grow and expand its locations and services, having a positive impact on the local economy.

Halifax Health plans to open a new 7,000-square-foot medical office and free-standing emergency department in Port Orange named Halifax Health at Oakwater. Construction will first begin on the free-standing emergency room building. The new Halifax Health ER department is expected to open at the end of 2024 and will create numerous physician, nursing and other healthcare career opportunities.

The completion of Halifax Health|UF Health - Medical Center of Deltona had an estimated overall economic impact of $133 million. The hospital cost $153 million and created 200 nursing, CNA, surgeon, security, pharmacy and other jobs. The 43-bed, six-story hospital includes a 24-hour emergency room, surgical operating rooms, the latest in diagnostic equipment and an ample number of hospital rooms, along with a two-story medical office annex. Services offered include anesthesiology, cardiology, emergency care, gastroenterology, general surgery, orthopaedic surgery, neurology, pathology, radiology, urology and nephrology.

Medical Tourism on the East Central Coast

Many people travel to the Daytona Beach area for a sunny vacation; however, some visitors are also taking advantage of the area's medical expertise. According to Florida TaxWatch, "Medical tourism has been on the rise and Florida, with renowned medical expertise, health centers of excellence, desirable vacation locations, and multiple transportation access routes, is poised to capture a portion of [the] world market."

With many high-profile healthcare facilities on the East Central Coast, it is easy to see why many people from around the nation and world travel to the area for exceptional medical care. "Patients and families from across the country appreciate the unique culture at AdventHealth Daytona Beach," according to the hospital's website. "Our cutting-edge technology is accompanied by holistic environment and patient-centered care. Best of all, it's just a short trip from some of Florida's most exciting attractions—and minutes from the Sunshine State's premier beaches."

How to Prepare Your Practice for a Natural Disaster

Many of us, as Florida residents, are accustomed to preparing for hurricanes, tropical storms and other natural disasters, especially when it comes to our own homes and families. However, as a healthcare provider, it's important to also have a plan in place for your medical practice when a storm hits. Hurricane season begins June 1 and lasts through November 30, with storms peaking in August and September. On the East Central Coast, our hospitals are well prepared for any hurricane that may come our way. "By law we're required to have various disaster preparedness plans in place," according to Halifax Health. "All hospitals that are Joint Commission certified and governed by AHCA are to have these plans, submit them annually and keep them updated."

To track where the storm is headed, the executive team at Halifax Health follows the National Hurricane Center. If the hospital is in the cone of impact, there are preplanned purchases in place with local food and medical suppliers. The hospital also works closely with the Volusia County Emergency Management team to gauge how serious the storm is. "When they start opening public shelters and the winds are projected to be over 40 miles per hour and when they start to close the bridges to the barrier island, we implement our plan to bring staff into the hospital for the duration of the storm," according to Halifax Health.

As the storm gets closer, the hospital starts having routine meetings every day with their management teams to make sure they have all the necessary resources to handle the hurricane for a few days. The hospital will also begin to discharge patients that are safe to return home to reduce the number of patients in the facility. This allows the hospital to have the appropriate amount of food, water and other supplies on hand. They also have diesel generators that will run the facility if the power goes out. Halifax Health has a fuel supply that can continuously run for seven to eight days without needing to resupply. The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services, The Joint Commission and AHCA make sure all hospitals have this level of preparation.

Each AdventHealth hospital, including the ones on the East Central Coast, makes sure that all maintenance, facilities and environmental services teams are working around the clock to keep the buildings safe and clean for everyone during a hurricane or natural disaster. Additionally, leaders at AdventHealth hospitals across the entire state of Florida help coordinate facility operations through command centers that gather multifunctional teams of experts to guarantee the safety and continuity of care.

"When trouble shows up, we show up for each other," said AdventHealth CEO Terry Shaw. "I'm in awe of how our team members and communities have shown up for each other in so many ways."

How Local Medical Practices Can Develop a Disaster Plan

For medical practices, implementing your own disaster plan will ensure your practice is kept safe in the event of a natural disaster such as a hurricane. Establish a disaster plan during a calm time before any threat occurs. Go over the plan with your staff so everyone is well prepared in an emergency. Familiarize yourself with the Greater Daytona area's evacuation routes, emergency phone numbers and shelters. If you are in a situation where you cannot leave your building, find an enclosed, windowless area in the center of the building away from any glass. If your building has interior stairwells, consider taking shelter there.

Insurance Coverage

Have adequate replacement insurance that covers fire, flooding and catastrophic damage from natural disasters such as hurricanes. Have an updated inventory of all your practice's equipment in case anything gets damaged. Make sure your insurance policy also includes business interruption coverage in a sufficient amount.

Employee Communication

Communication with employees and staff is key when it comes to implementing an effective disaster plan. Notify staff as soon as possible about an office closure. To contact every employee, keep a list of everyone's home phone numbers, cell phone numbers and email addresses.

Patient Communication

Let your patients know the best way to get in touch with your office when a disaster occurs. Post an alternate telephone number and email address on your website and social media platforms. Since many answering services are down during a major disaster, consider using VoIP (Voice over Internet Protocol). This phone service uses broadband internet connectivity and is more likely to stay in service during a natural disaster.

Protect Your Property

Have plywood on hand to protect windows and doors from dangerous debris caused by wind. Consider trimming branches from trees close to your building that could possibly fall and cause damage. Anchor large furniture, such as bookshelves or filing cabinets, to the wall. Have a secure place to store office electronics, preferably in a high-up place where possible flood water can't reach.

Keep Important Documents Safe

To avoid losing important information, keep electronic files whenever possible. It is especially important for medical practices to prevent loss of patient health data. Conduct regular data backups before a disaster occurs, not just when a threat like a hurricane is close. Back up all your electronic health records and other medical documents using cloud hosting services which will ensure your data is kept safe in an off-site secure location. Keep the contact information for your cloud hosting services handy if you need to contact them to recover your data. Make a copy of important business contacts, such as lawyers, accountants, suppliers, banks, etc., and keep it in a safe secondary location.

There are options for you if you are not ready to give up practicing medicine and are not ready to retire. When your medical license is placed in retirement status, you are prohibited from practicing any form of medicine. However, if your license is converted to a limited license status, you can still practice medicine on a volunteer basis to provide uncompensated care for low-income residents. A limited license is restricted to areas of critical need. Since physicians are working without compensation under the limited license status, license renewal fees are waived.
